SECTION C : COMPREHENSION (10 marks)

Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow it. Use your own words as far as possible.

Sewing a complete dress just as preparing a meal is a careful activity. It requires expertise, taste, patience and discipline. But before this, there is the raw material as a base to its conception. The dress needs in this case : the cloth, the machine and the various tools that a tailor or a seamstress would use to make the garment. As for a plate of meal, the raw food directly from the farm or from the processing factory is the first thing. Next, the ingredients and then the utensils like pots, knives, sauce-plates, ladles, spoons, etc that go to complete the process.

When all of these are available, then, there must also be the need to eat or to wear clothes. Without these needs, there is no reason for a cook to cook food, or for clothes makers to produce clothes.

One thing is certain : a person may live all his life without putting on clothes but, not without eating. No food, no life ; but, no clothes, no comfort. Yet, a person who does not wear clothes can suffer from skin diseases like : scabies, rashes, blisters, sores, etc. At worse, cold or heat may also affect his inner cells and provoke other serious internal illnesses. Some of these may include : catarrh, cramps, malaria and so on. Another main advantage of clothes on the body is that, they could make a person look quite attractive to the eye.

Food on its part makes people healthy. It enables them grow and it builds up the defence system of the body as derived from vitamins. Certain food nutrients like proteins help in body building and they maintain the equilibrium of the whole frame, while at the same time providing the brains with intellectual capabilities.

All in all, we can say that both food and clothes are absolutely necessary in human life. We cannot cope without them.
